

Rencontre avec les correspondants

Monday morning we met the correspondents they came from Greece and Poland. We got to know them over breakfast. At noon we ate together and in the afternoon went to pick up the waste in nature and make an assessment of all the waste that can be found on the side of the road or in more hidden places (jente, glass, packaging, etc). On Tuesday we went to the mountains together. In the morning we visited the village of Eyne and took a short walk in nature. In the afternoon we went to see the solar ovens and saw an exhibition which explained to us the effect of the sun on the skin or the eyes, the names of certain mathematicians who marked history.

On Wednesday we started by preparing our presentations for Friday as a group and in the afternoon, we did a photo rally in Perpignan to allow correspondents to discover the city.

Thursday we visited Banyuls in the morning we were at the aquarium. We split into two groups, one started with the visit and the other with a workshop on waste in the sea and the effect it has on animals. In the afternoon we did the coastal path and we could see the beautiful landscapes and the sea.

We started on Friday with the presentation of our group presentations, we were able to introduce the other groups to our theme (ecosystems). In the afternoon, we made maps in groups to explain the evolution of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere.

We ended this week with a meal and an evening all together.